

FIVE SLAYERS PLEAD GUILTY IN 1st DEGREE

Court, However, Refuses to Accept Admission and Will Appoint Lawyers for Defense

FIVE of the six Filipinos held responsible for the death of Teodoro Hayashibara, Japanese storekeeper, who was shot and stabbed in a pineapple field near Kaneohe on the night of August 12, pleaded guilty to a charge of first degree murder in Circuit Judge Heen's court this morning. Eduardo Asuncion was allowed to plead guilty to second degree murder. It is understood he will serve as a witness for the prosecution.

As the offense carries capital punishment, that of death, the pleas of guilty to first degree murder were not accepted by the court and the cases were continued until next Friday morning for further plea. The plea of Asuncion was accepted. He probably will be sentenced on Friday morning. The Filipinos were brought into court this morning handcuffed in pairs. The "bracelets" were removed, however, when they were called before the judge. They listened nonchalantly to the charge read by City Attorney Arthur M. Brown. The only one who showed any signs of uneasiness was Pedro Poras, who spent the greater part of last night weeping as Isidoro Alario jokingly remarked to him yesterday that he was to be hung this morning. There are four counts in the indictment.

Isidoro was the first called. He told the court he was guilty of the charge because he was "with the others." But he declared it was not he who killed the Japanese. He said he had no money and accepted the offer of the court to appoint an attorney to defend him.

Another plea of guilty was entered by Asuncion, but he later said he had meant to plead guilty to second instead of first degree murder. City Attorney Brown said that this arrangement had been explained to the Filipinos, and that such a plea was satisfactory to the prosecution. The court accepted the plea and continued the case until Friday for sentence. Asuncion said he had not used a weapon in the affair at Kaneohe, but admitted that he was there.

Gabriel Verver, Florencio Bonella, Pedro Poras and Amador Alario all said they were guilty because "they were there." Bonella is the man alleged to have borrowed from a Filipino woman the gun with which the shooting was done. It was this gun that gave Detective Captain Arthur McDuffie and his men their first clue, as the owner was traced from the store in Honolulu where the weapon was purchased.

Poras said he had enough money to hire his own attorney. He told the court he had about $25.00. At this juncture the city attorney interrupted with the explanation that the money was being held as evidence, as the detectives believe it was a part of that stolen from the murdered Japanese's store.

The Filipinos probably will come into court on Friday morning and plead not guilty. City Attorney Brown told the court that he desires to bring the cases to trial as soon as possible.

Attorneys to defend the Filipinos will be appointed by Circuit Judge Heen shortly. He said today that, if the case is one where the defendants are to accuse each other, it will be necessary to appoint a separate attorney for each Filipino. Otherwise, he adds, he may appoint one attorney to represent them all.

bellum, but it is manifest that no part of this program can be carried out successfully unless the restitution of the status quo ante furnishes a firm and satisfying basis for the object of delivering all free people from the menace of and from the actual power of the vast military controlled and irresponsible government which secretly planned to dominate the world and proceeded to carry out its plans without regard to treaties and the practices and principles of international honor.

"That power swept a continent in blood, not the blood alone of soldiers, but as well the blood of innocent women and children, helpless and poor."

"Today that power stands balked, not yet defeated, but an enemy of four-fifths of all the world."

"That power is not the German people; it is the German autocratic government."

"To deal with such a power on a peace plan such as is proposed by His Holiness, the Pope, involves allowing the continuance of that power, affording it the opportunity to recuperate its strength and to renew its policy, a renewal that would make necessary and would create hostile combination of nations against the German people as well as against its instruments."

"It would result in the abandoning of the new-born Russia to intrigue."

"Responsible statesmen everywhere must see that no peace can rest securely on conditions of economic and political restrictions meant to benefit some nations and cripple and embarrass others."

"The American people have suffered intolerable wrongs at the hands of the German government, but in America there is no demand for reprisals against the German people, who themselves have suffered at the hands of that same government."

"We believe that peace rests upon the rights of the people and not upon the rights of the government."

"The rights of all people, great or small, weak or powerful, are the equal rights to freedom, security, self-government and the participation in the economic opportunities of the world."

"The German people will be included amongst those with these rights if they accept the principle of equality and do not seek to dominate others."

"American Aims Plain"

"The purposes of the United States in this war are known to the whole world. We see no material advantages. We believe that the intolerable wrongs at the hands of the German government ought to be repaired, but not at the expense of the sovereignty of any people. Rather are we vindicating the right of sovereignty both of those who are weak and those who are strong."

"We cannot take the word of the present rulers of Germany as any guarantee of anything that will endure unless the guarantees of those rulers are explicitly supported and conclusive evidence given that their word is the will and the purpose of the German people."

"Without such guarantees, the treaties, the covenants and the arbitrations made with the German government would be such that no man and no nation could depend upon them. We must await new evidence of the purposes of the great people of the Central Powers."

"God grant that these may be given soon in a way that will restore the confidence of all peoples in the faith of nations and the possibility of a covenant peace."

The reply was signed by Secretary of State Lansing as the transmitter.

Filipino Realizing Death Not Far Off Hankers For Smoke

Whereupon His Captor Donates $1 to Tobacco Fund for Confessed Slayers

"ME savvy me die, me like smoke; you give me?"

This request, made in a spirit of bravado and carefree imperiousness to fate, was received by Chief of Detectives Arthur McDuffie yesterday afternoon from Gabriel Verver, one of the six Filipinos charged with murder in the first degree for the killing of T. Hayashibara, the Kaneohe storekeeper.

Verver, invited to attend the robbery of the Japanese store on the second attempt, the first attempt having failed, is said to be the man who stabbed the Japanese three times. It was his shirt that was found near the scene of the murder, blood stained, and having a hole in its elbow which served to convince the police that the shirt had been bought to fit that man.

Chief McDuffie finally received requests from all the Filipinos for tobacco and so he contributed $1 towards the fund and the men were satisfied.

MANUFACTURE OF WHISKY CEASES ON SEPTEMBER 8

It would cost more to convert the whisky into alcohol appropriate for the purpose than it would be worth. For this reason it is believed the President will take no immediate steps to commandeer the enormous quantity of whisky on hand.

The pronouncement of the food administration, concluding the making of distilled spirits marks a new departure in legislation and executive direction. It follows:

All processes in the production of distilled spirits for beverage purposes, according to a ruling issued by the United States food administration must cease at 11 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, September 8.

This limitation is placed by Section 15 of the food control law, which reads:

"That from and after thirty days from the date of the approval of this Act no foods, fruits, food materials, or feeds shall be used in the production of distilled spirits for beverage purposes."

The act was approved August 10. The thirty day period named will expire at midnight September 9. As this date falls on Sunday, and as the internal revenue laws prevent the operation of distilleries after 11 o'clock at night on Saturday until the following Monday at 1 a. m., it was ruled by the food administration that the provisions of Section 15 will become effective at 11 p. m., Saturday, September 8.

The law contemplates that all steps in the process of distillation shall cease at the point of time indicated in the ruling, it was stated by the food administration. So far as the utilization of foods, fruits, and food materials or feeds for the production of distilled spirits for beverage purposes is concerned the Act should be construed as to inhibit the initiation of any step, unless the entire process may be fully completed prior to 11 p. m. of September 8, 1917.

KAPAA WATER RIGHTS FIGHT TO BE AIRED

Conference Expected to Be Called Jan. 1 at Which Various Factions Will Be Heard, After Which Bids Will Be Called

ALL persons interested in Kapaa, Kauai, water rights—a sore point for years between various factions on that island—are to be given the opportunity to be heard together and separately at a conference to be held with the governor at the capitol, according to word reaching the Star-Bulletin today. It is believed this conference will be called about January 1.

According to word from Kauai the Waialua leases, which are held by the Lihue interests and which expire on October 1, are becoming, along with the question of how cane lands in Kapaa district will be given water, a matter of much interest and discussion on Kauai. Several plans have already been advanced.

Hans Isenberg, president of Lihue, and Col. Z. S. Spalding of Kealia have both discussed with the homesteaders the matter of getting water onto Kapaa, according to the story, which is all the more interesting because of the rivalry that is known to have existed for years between the two men.

It is said that the homesteaders were asked their opinions on the question of water, what price they would be willing to pay, and so on.

In addition to this comes the story that the homesteaders themselves—or a group of them—want to put up their own water company to furnish Kapaa with moisture. This is said to be proposed by individuals who have made good money during the last year or so from Kapaa cane.

But it is the government that owns these water rights which will expire from lease on October 1, and it is believed the government will ultimately determine what trend matters shall take. This is the purpose of the conference.

At a meeting the various factions will probably be heard, terms will be discussed, maximum charges fixed for use of water and the whole thing afterward definitely announced in plans and specifications.

After this bids will be received, it is understood. All parties concerned—plantations, homesteaders, separate water companies—will be allowed to bid if they so desire. If no bids are made it seems possible that the government may take up a scheme of its own. In that case provision would have to be made by the coming legislature for financing the project.

It is also understood that whoever may be successful in the bid for the water project, the system must ultimately revert to the government.

There are about 12,000 acres in the entire Waialua lease, the annual rental for this being $1200 a year. The contract was signed on October 1, 1887. Of the 12,000 acres, however, only about 4000 are said to be available for cultivation. The other is forest reserve. There are 3000 acres of cane land on the side of the river next to Lihue district and about 1000 on the Kapaa side now under cultivation or available for cane or pineapples. Lihue plantation, which has the majority of the leased land, will be given a year by law to get cane from it after the lease expires.

The general plan is to bring water from the Waialua river to furnish Kapaa, so as to make the district safe for cane in time of drought.

MAN WHO SHOT GIRL ADMITS HIS GUILT TO COURT

Six Arraigned Before Judge Heen Following Return of Indictments

As a result of yesterday's session of the territorial grand jury, six persons charged with criminal offenses were arraigned in Circuit Judge Heen's court this morning. Two of the indictments returned yesterday have been placed on the secret file where they will remain until the defendants have been arrested.

John Epa Makaloa, a Hawaiian who, in a fit of jealous rage, shot and wounded his stepdaughter, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. He will be sentenced at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Makaloa was also shot in the struggle which followed the wounding of the girl.

Hermogones Alcantara, charged with first degree murder and assault with intent to commit murder, pleaded not guilty. The court will appoint an attorney to defend him. Alcantara is alleged to have shot a Filipino woman, who later died of her wounds, and a Filipino man, who recovered.

David Keiau and John Blossom, indicted on two charges of second degree burglary, pleaded not guilty. Sam Rosenborough, charged with failing to aid a person injured by an automobile, pleaded not guilty.

At the request of Deputy City Attorney A. M. Cristy, Circuit Judge Heen today granted the city attorney's office five additional days in which to amend the complaint, or take other action, in the case of Roderick O. Matheson, editor of the Advertiser, who was charged with criminal libel.

The 10 days given the prosecution to take further action were up today and Attorney Cristy says he does not know yet what further steps will be taken in the case. Editor Matheson was charged with writing and publishing an alleged libelous editorial under the caption "Under What Flag?" which was a criticism of a speech made by Gov. Pinkham.

Mr. Matheson's attorneys filed a demurrer to the sworn information of the city attorney's office and Circuit Judge Heen sustained it.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

William Chauncey Wilder and Miss Theresa Adele Smith were married Saturday by Rev. Father H. Valentin, pastor of the Catholic church of St. Augustine-by-the-Sea, Walkiki. The witnesses were Rev. Father Victorinus Claessen and Rev. Father Patrick St. Leger.

City Treasurer D. L. Conkling has rearranged his office this week, placing the desks and counters back in a space from the King street side to allow more room for customers. The arrangement practically doubles the counter space and facilitates the work of the office.

Suits for divorce have been filed in circuit court as follows: Irene Jose against Frank Jose, alleged desertion; Bon Shee Leong against Yet Sing Leong, alleged desertion; Tommy Ani against Annie Ani, alleged statutory offense; Tito Gonzales against Fela Gonzales, alleged statutory offense.

Jose Cuevas, who is charged with having smuggled a silk kimono off a steamer in port recently, has been released by the federal officials on bond in the sum of $500. He was waived examination and his case will be taken up by the federal grand jury when it meets again.
